BOLD SWEEP IN PACIFIC BY CARRIER UNIT

89 Japanese Ships Destroyed or Damaged and 8 Planes Wiped Out in Philippines

AIRFIELDS LAID WASTE

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 12.—(P)—Boldly sweeping 500 more miles westward in the first Allied sea-borne blow against the Philippines, a U. S. carrier force struck Manila Bay on Friday, destroyed or damaged 89 Japanese ships, wiped out 68 planes and laid waste to five airfields and other installations vital to Japan's defense of the conquered island.

The attack—announced late yesterday from fleet headquarters—was a blanket of important known enemy bases on the island from Sarangani bay on the south to Surigao at the extreme north. It was far westward of any previous carrier strike in the southwest Pacific.

A nineteenth enemy ship was blasted off low Joma in the Volcano islands south of Japan.

Most spectacular of the actions was the complete destruction of a 52-ship convoy discovered off Hinatuan bay on the eastern side of Mindanao, most southerly of the Philippines. In the convoy were 32 loaded coastal cargo ships and 20 sampans. Cruisers, destroyers and carrier aircraft destroyed every ship.

The size of the attacking air fleet was secret, of course, but a Berlin broadcast earlier said 300 fighters and bombers swarmed over Mindanao.

"The airfields at Del Monte, Valencia, Cagayan, Buayan and Davao were bombed and strafed," Adm. Chester Nimitz' communique said. Eight enemy planes rose to contest these strikes, and all were shot down.

Approximately 60 aircraft caught on the ground were destroyed. Aside from obliterating the convoy, the task force—part of Adm. William Halsey, Jr.'s third fleet—pounded on enemy shipping in Sarangani bay, Davao gulf and near Cagayan and Surigao. Their blows resulted in "the sinking or probably sinking of 16 small cargo ships, one medium cargo ship, one patrol craft and many sampans, and setting fire to two small cargo ships and at least 17 sampans."

U. S. plane losses "were very light," and there was no damage to American surface ships, the Navy said.

The Mindanao attack dovetailed with recent blows from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bases in the New Guinea area. The latter had been hitting in the Davao area and around Zamboanga, 230 miles to the westward. The carrier force took in important new targets.

855 POLIO CASES
Harrisburg, Sept. 12.—(P)—The state health department has reported 855 cases of infantile paralysis in an outbreak that has now spread into 60 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties. Three cases in Clinton and one each in Clearfield and Jefferson were the first recorded in these areas.

MAINE REPUBLICANS JUBILANT; TEXAS DEMS IN FAMILY FIGHT

By the Associated Press
Maine Republicans celebrated today a sweeping victory over Democrats, two of whom had CIO support, while in another closely-watched political development campaigning Texas Democrats squared off in a family fight at Dallas.

Traditionally Republican Maine gave Horace A. Hildreth a better than two-to-one majority over Democrat Paul J. Fullen when virtually all of the state's 627 precincts had reported in yesterday's governorship race. Their totals at this stage were 130,050 and 54,396 respectively.

This margin compared with a 4,000 edge for the Republican candidate two years ago and one of 70,000 four years ago.

DOUGHBOYS THRUST INTO GERMANY NEAR TRIER

BULLETIN
London, Sept. 12.—(P)—Two Berlin-bound American columns which battered into Germany 70 miles apart were ramming against the Siegfried Line today. One, the First Army spearhead, thrust five miles inside the Reich from Luxembourg. Seventy miles to the north elements of an armored division crossed the frontier in strength, stepping off from Belgium east of the town of Eupen. Nearly 300 miles to the rear, British forces captured the great Atlantic port of Le Havre, needed to feed supplies forward for the massive assault on the Reich.

By JAMES M. LONG
London, Sept. 12.—(P)—Berlin-bound American troops and tanks fought into the Siegfried Line five miles inside Germany today, while 290 miles to the rear British forces captured Le Havre—needed to supply the massive assault on the Reich.

The war swept into Germany with an American First Army plunge over the frontier. Farther south, the U. S. Third Army cracked through the old Maginot Line to Thionville, on the Moselle above French bridgeheads already forged across that river.

Reds Prepare For Full-Scale Thrust at Axis

By EDDIE GILMORE
Moscow, Sept. 12.—(P)—Back in their own lines after a second patrol expedition into East Prussia within three weeks, Red army units gave the Soviet command "important information" today for a full-scale thrust into German territory expected to begin at any moment.

This second penetration of the enemy's own land was made across the Sessupe river, which forms the boundary between the Soviet Lithuanian republic and the area of East Prussia northeast of Insterburg.

Red army artillery has been pounding this sector for days.

Meanwhile a powerfully-sustained Red army drive plunged into the outskirts of the northern Polish rail center of Lomza, gateway city to lower East Prussia, after overrunning 30 or more settlements in one of the most stubbornly defended sectors of the eastern front.

Important Port In Chekiang Falls

By SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Sept. 12.—(P)—The Chinese high command acknowledged tonight that the important port of Wenchow, in Chekiang province 225 miles south of Shanghai, was captured by the Japanese Sept. 7, after reporting yesterday that enemy units had entered the port.

For the second day in a row, Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today that U. S. 14th Air Force warplanes had attacked Japanese positions in the vicinity of Chuanhsien, suggesting that enemy units had crossed the Kwangsi border from Hunan in force.

Planes of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's command also struck Japanese positions north of Canton, shot up enemy trucks on the Japanese-held section of the Burma road in Yunnan province and attacked landing barges in the Venchow area 225 miles south of Shanghai, killing many Japanese troops.

Allies Ramming Main Gothic Line

Rome, Sept. 12.—(P)—The American Fifth and British Eighth armies jammed against the main Gothic Line positions across Italy today "in many places along the entire front" after two to three miles advances through high mountain positions in the sector above Florence, headquarters announced.

Heavy fighting continued on the Adriatic where Poles, British and Canadians have been slugging within sight of coastal Rimini for a week or more.

As Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's troops moved forward, medium and light bombers attacked rail and road bridges, gun positions and other battle objectives in northern Italy. Supply dumps and command posts were struck. Foul weather grounded heavy bombers, said the chief advances were "into the high ground north of the upper siege" north of Florence.

One Fifth Army spearhead was within 35 miles of Bologna (pop. 270,000) in the Po valley.

Polio to be Discussed By Health Officials at Meeting

Warren borough's first polio case among those of school age, 12-year-old Patricia Parks, is to be admitted to Warren General Hospital some time today for complete isolation and treatment and board of health officials will meet at eight o'clock this evening to determine what, if any, steps are necessary for further protection of the community.

The Parks girl, a student at Johnson school and sister of Mrs. Paul Martin, 201 Center street, was taken ill last Thursday and has since been under close observation of the family physician and health officials, with the family under observation quarantine as a protective measure. Among symptoms evidenced is some weakness of the legs, and it was felt that better care could be given at the hospital.

Health and school officials are hopeful that no drastic action will be felt necessary when reports of the situation are presented to the board of health this evening.

Both groups are of the opinion that the utmost vigilance is being exerted in the schools, where teachers have been instructed to report immediately every illness and absence among students. These reports are followed up by visits of the school nurse, Mrs. Carl Hultberg, and Dr. E. S. Briggs, school physician and county medical director. Working with them is the state nurse, Betty Gentilman, who has had special training in the treatment of polio.

A decision to close the borough schools would mean a community quarantine, it is pointed out, with a ban on all public gatherings or assemblies, and a subsequent lack of control over those pupils who might be taken ill and their sickness go unreported.

Warren has been particularly fortunate in the face of a widespread shortage of nurses, to have some special assistance with the cases of polio so far discovered and isolated at the hospital. Helen Gentilman, a sister of the local nurse and graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Nursing, has been engaged in public nursing and is here, for a time with her sister while awaiting orders to report for the Navy (Turn to Page Nine)

Mercer Jury Is Inspecting Murder Farm

Mercer, Sept. 12.—(P)—The jury trying Janice Graham, farm girl, on a murder charge left the courtroom today to visit the dairy farm where three persons were slain last October 7.

Shortly after court convened, the prosecution requested the jury be taken out to inspect the house, barn and other buildings on the farmland "in order to better determine in their own minds the scene of the crime."

The defense offered no objection.

The jury of seven men and five women was completed yesterday. The prosecution, ready to begin its case against the 21-year-old hired girl, has indicated it would seek the death penalty.

Thirty-five prospective jurors were called and cross-examined before the regular panel and two alternate jurors were chosen.

Judge George H. Rowley excused eight tamen, because they expressed scruples against inflicting capital punishment or because they had already formed a set opinion on the girl's guilt or innocence.

The state exhausted nine of the peremptory challenges allotted to each side and the defense used up six.

STAFF CHIEFS ARE HEARD AT CONFERENCE

President and Prime Minister Summon Military Heads for Afternoon Session at Quebec

TALKS ARE INFORMAL

By W. L. BEALE, JR.
Quebec, Sept. 12.—(P)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill conferred today, summoned their military staffs for an afternoon session and again officially emphasized that their meeting was primarily "military" and concerned with the Pacific war against Japan.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, and Robert Cruickshank of British information services, brought to a pre-noon press conference word of the day's schedule.

Early opened his remarks by saying that the president "is most pleased with the press of yesterday, on the basis of the papers he has seen and a resume from Washington, that have emphasized the military sense of the conference and the Pacific theatre."

At the same time, both Early and Cruickshank stressed the informality of personal talks between the president and Churchill, and how each was available to the other at any time.

Reinforcement of American and British land, sea and air power in the Pacific and Asiatic areas figured heavily today in a Roosevelt-Churchill conference officially dedicated to Japan's swift destruction.

Tremendous American strikes in the Pacific, including last Friday's first naval air attack on the Philippines have made necessary an adjustment in the blueprints evolved when the president and prime minister met here 13 months ago.

In a sen., two conferences are in progress here. One is between Roosevelt and Churchill in the governor general's stone residence high upon the citadel, a fortification dating from colonial days.

There the two leaders, who last came to a face-to-face meeting at Cairo in December, have resumed the intimate and global exchange of views that has characterized their previous meetings.

The other conference proceeds in the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec's famous hotel, between the top military commanders and official aides of the two powers.

HURRICANE WARNINGS

Miami, Fla., Sept. 12.—(P)—The weather bureau reported today that hurricane warnings are indicated for the northern Bahamas islands, and advised persons along the Atlantic coast from Miami to Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, to be on the alert for further advice about a severe tropical storm.

Body of Murdered Man Is Recovered

Williamsport, Sept. 12.—(P)—Private James E. Buckley, Bath, N. Y., was in Lyncoming county jail today awaiting hearing on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Vincent Novashoski, of Blossburg.

District Attorney Joseph H. Keliher said he committed Buckley after the soldier had led authorities to a spot on Jack's Hollow mountain where Novashoski's body was found partly buried under some rocks.

The soldier was brought here from Marshall, Ill., where Sheriff Willie Shaver said he signed a confession stating he had stabbed the farmer last month while enroute back to camp after a furlough.

OPA RENT REVISIONS EFFECTIVE WEDNESDAY

Washington, Sept. 12.—(P)—Revised OPA rent regulations effective tomorrow allow landlords to petition for rent increases to cover improvements in housing accommodations, such as substantial increase in services, furniture, furnishings or equipment.

Previously adjustment was limited to cases of proved major improvement such as remodeling, OPA explained.

Politics Sure Make Strange Bedfellows!

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 12.—(P)—Politics makes strange bedfellows.

James P. Boyd and Homer C. Martin, both of Paris, Mo., applied for rooms separately at a local hotel. Sorry, said the clerk, nothing here—unless you'd care to share a double room.

So Boyd, Democratic nominee for state representative from Monroe county, and Martin, the Republican ditto, shared.

Lively Topics Considered by Mine Workers

Cincinnati, Sept. 12.—(P)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, told the opening session of his union's convention today that President Roosevelt "publicly kicked every coal miner in the face" during the wage disputes last year and appealed to the UMW membership, in effect, not to vote for him in November.

Lewis referred to the president's radio appeal to the miners in the spring of 1943 as the "kick in the face," saying that Mr. Roosevelt denounced the men and their union after the policy committee had voted to call off the LOITUS.

By JOSEPH A. LITKUS
Cincinnati, Sept. 12.—(P)—The United Mine Workers of America opens its biennial convention today with the perennial issue of district self-government and national politics the liveliest topics awaiting the consideration of more than 2500 delegates.

UMW President John L. Lewis was set to lambast the administration under such subtitles as wage controls and labor disunity, but whether he would go so far as to seek a convention endorsement of the Republican presidential candidate was a question no one could, or would, answer.

A disorderly climax to a caucus of autonomy forces last night herded a convention fight on that issue. Ray Edmundson, a Lewis appointee for nine years in the Illinois district presidency and now a candidate for the UMW presidency against Lewis, called the caucus.

By the time the scuffling, punching and general disorder subsided, Edmundson had vanished, a Lewis supporter was in the chair and the survivors were listening to anti-Edmundson speakers who wanted to know where the autonomy campaign money. Caucus forces lost control when two Lewis supporters leapt upon a platform table and insisted on addressing the crowd.

Edmundson made a cool exit from the melee and was succeeded in the chair by Bill Blizard, Charleston, W. Va., adherent of Lewis, abetted by Joseph Yablonski of California, Pa.

ELEVATOR OPERATORS IN PITTSBURGH IDLE

Pittsburgh, Sept. 12.—(P)—Striking elevator operators whose walkout forced thousands to tramp up and down long flights of stairways today reaffirmed their strike vote in their dispute with the regional War Labor Board.

The strike affected approximately 400 service employees in the 20-story Frick building, the 19-story Frick annex, the 14-story Union Trust building and the eight-story Jenkins Arcade.

A vote to continue the strike was taken after the Labor Board notified representatives of the employees the walkout was having "a damaging effect on war plants and agencies having offices in these buildings."

Union leaders said the strike was unauthorized.

Death of Commodore Barry To Be Observed Wednesday

Harrisburg, Sept. 12.—(P)—Pennsylvania school children, navy men and patriotic organizations will observe tomorrow the 141st anniversary of the death of Commodore John Barry, revolutionary war sea captain who received the first United States naval officer's commission before the nation had a ship for him to sail.

Governor Martin in a proclamation, urged observance of the anniversary in the schools and by the citizenship generally "to perpetuate the memory of this great American patriot."

Barry, an Irish seaman who came to America in his teens and quickly won fame as "the best captain in the West Indian trade," received a navy captain's commission from George Washington on Feb. 22, 1781.

Three years later the new republic possessed its first ship when the frigate, "United States," was launched at the Delaware on May 10, 1797. Her sister ships, "Constitution" and "Independence," were building at Baltimore and Boston.

In the early days of the revolution Barry mounted guns on leaky tubs and "et sail out of Philadelphia to take the wind out of the sails of a proud British fleet."

AIR ARMADAS POUND ENEMY OIL STORAGES

Make No Mention of Battles Such as Fights of "Last Ditch" in Which 175 Were Destroyed

USE RUSSIAN BASES

By HOWARD COWAN
London, Sept. 12.—(P)—More than 1,000 American heavy bombers attacked Germany today for the fifth consecutive day while other hundreds of Allied planes pummeled the foe close to the battlefield.

The Flying Fortresses and Liberators again bombed the enemy's diminishing oil stores in great armadas conveyed by probably 750 fighters. The Germans made no mention of air battles such as the fights of "last ditch" character yesterday in which the Eighth Air Force alone destroyed 175 enemy planes.

In clear weather, the bombers struck visually at these objectives: Synthetic oil plants at Ruhland, northeast of Dresden; Baalen, near Leipzig; Magdeburg and at Bruch on the Czech border.

Refineries at Hammagstadt near Heide and at Misburg near Hannover. An engine plant near Kiel.

The Germans said yet another American force was hitting south Germany from Italian bases.

The enemy, in desperation, lighted smudge pots around some of the refineries to conceal them in smoke palls. Some of the targets were even deeper in eastern and central Germany than those attacked yesterday.

Moscow reported scores of U. S. Eighth Air Force bombers landed on Russian bases yesterday after bombing Chemnitz, 50 miles southeast of Leipzig.

The German radio filled European air waves with warnings of bombers and fighters approaching from England, France and Italy, declaring in one announcement that 1,300 Allied bombers were nearing western Germany. It was the fifth straight day of heavy air attacks.

G. O. P. Nominee Irks McCormack

Washington, Sept. 12.—(P)—House Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts today accused Governor Thomas E. Dewey of "brazen disregard of the truth to get votes" when he charged the Democratic administration with failing to plan for demobilization of the armed forces.

McCormack told the house that the Republican presidential nominee "hit below the belt" in his recent Philadelphia and Louisville speeches, "in an attempt to create a false issue."

The Democratic leader said that the war department announced demobilization plans the day before Dewey's Philadelphia speech and furthermore that congress has considered the question in detail.

U-Boat Gudgeon Is Reported Overdue

Washington, Sept. 12.—(P)—The submarine Gudgeon with her crew of approximately 65 officers and men is overdue and presumed lost, the navy announced today.

Loss of the Gudgeon raises to 29 the number of submarines lost since the war started. Of that total 4 were lost in non-operational missions.

No information was given by the navy on where the Gudgeon operated on her last war patrol, but presumably she was engaged in operations against the Japanese.

Rogers Wins
Addition To Decoration

It will interest his parishioners and many friends in the community to learn that Captain Edward Rogers, captain with the infantry in France, has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Silver Star with which he was previously decorated.

The citation which accompanies the new decoration reads:

"For gallantry in action in the vicinity of La Vacherie, Normandy, France, June 17, 1944. Learning a combat patrol was to be sent into an area where American and enemy dead lay unattended, Chaplain Rogers accompanied the group. When the patrol was subjected to intense artillery fire, mortally wounding his driver and causing numerous casualties, Chaplain Rogers, unhesitatingly exposing himself, supervised relief and evacuation of the wounded and recovered the bodies of the dead. Residence at appointment, Warren, Pennsylvania.

Since receiving this award Chaplain Rogers, pastor of the First Lutheran church on military leave, was slightly wounded by coming in contact with a "booby trap" but upon receiving first aid treatment was able to continue with his regiment.

Parking Changes Made By Regulations of Police Dep't

Council last evening approved a new parking regulation submitted by the police department after a proposed ordinance relative to parking on Second avenue between Liberty and Market street had been passed two readings and was submitted for a third reading last evening when it was voted down. In lieu of the proposed ordinance the police committee submitted a regulation on parking. This effects several streets in the borough and makes the following provisions:

Third avenue Hickory to Liberty street, no parking on North side of street and parallel parking on the south side.

Water street, Second to Third avenue no parking on the West side and parallel parking on the East side.

East street from Second to Third avenue, no parking on the West side and parallel parking on the East side.

Second avenue, Market to Water street no parking on the South side and parallel parking on the North side.

Willis Hornstrom, appeared before Council relative to some rod lines that cross Lincoln avenue about three feet off the ground. He stated it effectually closed the street. It was asked that the obstruction be removed. Borough solicitor Blackman explained that the Fire Chief had taken the matter up with him as the rods made it impossible to get fire apparatus through the street. The matter was referred to the Street and Fire Committee.

The financial report showed in the general fund $39,018.93; Sinking fund $723.94; Sanitary sewers $5,043.24; Park $794.64. It was also reported that during the past month Bonds 43 to 50 inclusive of the issue of 1932 had been retired, thus reducing the boroughs bonded indebtedness by $8000.

A letter from the Hammond Iron Works suggested the paving of Parker street from Pennsylvania avenue to Lexington and it was reported that the curbing on Fifth avenue at Fifth avenue and East street was broken down. Attention will be given both matters.

The police last month recovered $240 worth of stolen goods and $170 worth of goods lost and mislaid by the owners, 13 dogs were disposed of and 40 arrests were made and $31.50 in fines had been collected. The parking meters from July 25 to August 30 produced the sum of $1019.13 as against $781.61 during the same period last year. Burgess Steuber collected $8 in licenses during the month.

Paul Delaman, who some time ago served as a patrolman on the police force was placed on duty for a period not to exceed three months. It was reported that two of the regular patrolmen had been serving in the armed forces and that their places had never been filled.

Ten fees for building permits were collected during the month of August.

Norman Ecklund, janitor of the Municipal building was given two weeks pay in lieu of a vacation period.

Discussion arose over the necessary rebuilding of the municipal parking lot at the rear of the city building. An estimate of the cost showed it would require an expenditure of about $700. It was decided to have the needed rebuilding job done by borough employees. It was also reported that the sidewalk from Third avenue to the police headquarters be built. The new walk will be four feet in width and built by borough employees.

The scales provided the sum of $33.68 during the month of August.

A bridge across Indian Run on Prospect street will be repaired and a sidewalk raised. It is estimated this will cost about $100. During the past summer the playgrounds came into their own in a big way with 38,131 persons attending the play sessions which were 5418 in excess of 1943. There were 26 large picnics held on the grounds and in the parks this year. It was also recommended that some new equipment be purchased for the season of 1945.

The airport turned $65.21 into the borough coffers from August. It was also reported that unless the runway at the port was resurfaced this fall that much damage would be done during the winter months by water freezing and heaving the runway. It was suggested that an estimate prepared by the City Engineer showed the cost to be $3500. Bids will be advertised for and the work done as soon as possible. The bids will be opened Wednesday, October 4 at 7:30.

The fire committee also reported that the fire at the United Refinery last Sunday was a serious one. The fire department and Chief Charles Alabaugh were complimented on the excellent work they did at the fire. The United Refinery requested that they be allowed to maintain and keep a large hydrant near their cracking plant in shape. It is located on a dead end line and at the fire Sunday gave some trouble as gravel got into the pumps. This permission was granted.

Wac Recruiter
Here Tuesday

Because many requests have been received for evening appointments with WAC recruiting officers coming here weekly from Erie, Lt. Mary Ann O'Connor, commanding officer, has planned to have her party here each Tuesday from two in the afternoon until nine o'clock at night.

Headquarters will continue at the YWCA as usual but those wishing to call up to nine o'clock this evening may do so.

The work of the Women's Army Corps has been commended by many high-ranking officials. Following a two-month tour of American air bases in England, Africa and Italy, the supervising chaplain of the AAF, Col. Charles I. Carpenter, made this statement: "One of the finest influences I saw overseas is the work done by the Women's Army Corps. Soldiers abroad have a high appreciation of the contribution of the WACS to the war effort and of the WAC as an individual. There's nothing that gives his morale such a lift as to see an American girl doing her job side by side with him in a foreign country."

Women of this community are now being offered exceptional opportunities by the WAC. They may select any station within the Third Service Command, which covers Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland, for their initial assignment, and they may select their branch of service the air forces, the ground forces or the service forces. To qualify, women must be within the ages of 20 and 49 years, have two years of high school education, and have no children under 14 years of age.

Valuable Business Machines
Taken In Youngsville Theft

Discovery was made yesterday by Carleton Quimby, superintendent for the Duffy Construction Company that the office and warehouse of the company at Youngsville had been robbed. The company is engaged in rebuilding of the steel bridge of the New York Central railroad over the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Youngsville. A temporary office and warehouse of the company whose headquarters are at 230 Park avenue, N. Y., while the work is under way.

The robbery is thought to have taken place sometime between 8 p. m. Sunday evening and 7:30 a. m. yesterday morning. Supt. Quimby reports that the thieves secured a calculating machine, a typewriter, two hydraulic jacks and an outfit for acetylene burning equipment, jets, etc. The property taken is valued at over $500.

The theft was reported to Chief Westcott, of Youngsville who is investigating. The Sheriff's office and State Police have been called into the case.

Navy Asks Boys and Girls for Help

The Navy needs milkweed floss to replace kapok in life jackets. "Pick milkweed pods" is the appeal of Rear Admiral E. L. Cochran, Chief of the Navy Department's Bureau of Ships, to "American boys and girls who want to save the lives of American fighting men, who want a specific war job to do, who want to contribute directly to victory." Milkweed pods are ready for picking in most states sometime in September. Open mesh bags, like those the boys below are using, will be distributed through schools, 4-H clubs, Boy Scout troops and other youth groups. Twenty cents a bag will be paid for picking and drying the pods.

Unemployment Payments Under G. I. Bill Now in Effect

Unemployment compensation provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights for World War II veterans went into effect Monday, September 4, with unemployed veterans in Pennsylvania being entitled to apply for allowances for the week ending September 10, the first complete week after the effective date of the law.

Payments are $20 per week for veterans totally unemployed, while those partially unemployed will receive $20 per week less any earnings in excess of $3 for the week. Self-employed veterans also are covered by the law with provisions that they may draw $100 per month less their net earnings from their business, profession or other vocation.

Claims for unemployment compensation, designated in the bill as "readjustment allowances," may be filed in any public employment office in Pennsylvania. The Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation, Department of Labor and Industry, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will handle the taking and payment of allowances under agreement with the U. S. Veterans' Administration. Funds for the payment of allowances will be provided by the Veterans' Administration.

Veterans will follow much the same procedure in filing claims as do claimants for state unemployment compensation benefits. Except for those veterans who are self-employed, the law requires that veterans must be able to work and available for suitable work, and that they register for work at the time of filing their claim. They must show their official discharge or release papers at that time.

Allowance checks will be mailed to the veterans at their home address, with each veteran being entitled to draw as many allowances as he is entitled to by his length of service. Each veteran will be entitled to 24 weeks of payments for his first 90 days of service (minimum period of service to qualify unless discharged for disability incurred in line of service). An additional four weeks of allowances are authorized for each additional month of service. The maximum duration for any veteran is 62 weeks.

Provision also is made in the law for the continued payment of allowances to those veterans who become ill or disabled during any week or weeks after the start of a period of continuous unemployment. In such instances the veteran will be required to submit a doctor's certificate, if practicable, and a statement signed by him or his representatives explaining his ailment and why he is not able to work.

State unemployment compensation benefits will still be available to those veterans with qualifying wage credits. However, veterans cannot draw both state benefits and readjustment allowances at the same time.

Youngsville Lad Is Given Cash Award

An interesting feature took place at Youngsville Fair Friday afternoon, when T. R. Sponser, Vocational Adviser, introduced D. A. Brown of Buffalo, District Manager of Firestone Rubber Company. Mr. Brown spoke interestingly of Firestone's early farm experience and connections with farming. He then spoke of the many Firestone Rubber developments that have aided farming. Mr. Brown explained that Firestone was interested in seeing worthy young farmers become established in profitable farming. He stated that Firestone has promoted this desire by giving substantial cash awards to eight (2) Pennsylvania boys. Mr. Brown then presented Edward Zawacki of Youngsville with one of the eight awards. Edward, with his face beaming spoke briefly, thanking Mr. Brown for the sizeable Firestone check. Edward also expressed his appreciation to his F. F. A. Adviser, Mr. R. L. Albright.

Edward already has definite plans to invest the check in purebred livestock to further aid him in becoming well established in farming.

Tony Lucia's Unit Hangs Up Real Record

Friends of S/Sgt. Anthony W. Lucia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Lucia, 1307 Sill street, who read in these columns recently concerning some of his activities as tail gunner in a 12th Air Force bombardment group, will be interested to learn that he will soon qualify for the second gold bar on his left sleeve denoting two six-month periods spent overseas.

According to a recent directive by the War Department, each member of the U. S. Army is authorized to wear an additional gold bar for each six-month period spent overseas.

S/Sgt. Lucia is rounding out his tenth month with a bombardment group which has set the all-time record of 500 combat missions over German occupied territory. During 19 months of active combat the group has flown 9,000 sorties, logged 29,000 hours, dropped 11,500 tons of high explosive bombs, sunk or damaged 205 German ships and damaged or destroyed 481 German aircraft.

Under the continuous command of Col. Anthony G. Hunter, this bombardment unit has participated in some of the most vital campaigns of the Tunisian, Sicilian and Italian campaigns. At present it is concentrating on vital Jerry supply lines and communication routes in France and northern Italy.

BAPTIST V-DAY

The First Baptist congregation invites all who wish to do so to join in its special V-Day prayer service upon announcement of victory over Germany. If the announcement comes between 7 p. m. and midnight, the service will be held at 8 p. m. the same day. In addition to the special service this hour, the church sanctuary will remain open all day for attendance of all who wish to pray and give thanks.

CAMP WELL ORGANIZED

The camp on Bull Hill where German war prisoners are being housed preparatory to their start in cutting wood in the forests is being carefully organized and is in ship shape. It is expected that work in the woods will soon be under way as the camp is fast approaching the point when all work necessary will have been accomplished.

PLANT TIED UP

From all indications the fire at the United Refinery last Sunday morning will effectively tie up the gasoline production of the plant for a period of about three months. While the company has an A priority due to its manufacture of essential war materials it will take much time to build a new corporation and secure the necessary electrical equipment and delicate gauges that are necessary to the operation of the system used at the plant.

LOST A TIRE

John O'Connor, of Kane, employee of the State Auditor's office and a frequent Warren visitor was stopped on a sharp curve two miles west of Kane because of a flat tire. So he started to change the tire but fast-passing traffic made him decide to move the car a few feet ahead to get it off the highway. As he moved the car he left the spare on the berm beside the road. He got out of the car again and walked back exactly 60 steps to pick up the tire and wheel, but both were missing. Faster work in tire thefts has never been reported in these parts. He reported the theft to state and borough police.

NO TIME TO LET UP!

Today's war is like a huge assembly line. The finished product may be a barrage blowing up enemy tanks or machine-gun fire smashing a counter-attack but the beginning is in some kind of factory. If the factory fails there isn't any finished product and if the factory slows down there isn't enough finished product. And if there isn't enough finished product we don't win our war so soon and we spend more lives winning it. The assembly part of the line is just as important as the firing part of the line. It's one single process and every one is a soldier.

We haven't manned our factories, forges and foundries with soldiers and are not likely to do so. But workers, managers and owners will have to behave like soldiers if we are to keep the casualty lists down and get an early peace.

Not all of them are doing it. When bad news was coming they stepped up. Now that good news is in almost every day's newspapers they tend to let down. At least some of them do. People are leaving war jobs in order to get what they consider peace jobs. Management in many cases is itching to convert from war-time to peacetime production. No doubt they feel safer so. But if enough workers and enough managers and owners make this shift the country isn't going to be safe, because it won't be able to finish the war.

Such a failure is not conceivable. We'll finish the war, all right. But the responsibility doesn't lie on the other fellow. It lies on each of us: on labor to keep working in war jobs; on ownership and management to forget post-war opportunities until the Army and Navy don't need their product any more; on consumers to go without some luxuries until they can be manufactured without harm to the war effort. The soldier isn't feathering his nest to any noticeable extent. Why should the rest of us?

TIRE INSPECTION CHANGE

Use of tire inspection records will be discontinued after current "A" gasoline books expire, an Associated Press dispatch from Washington says.

Along with the new "A" ration book, the Office of Price Administration announces, each motorist will receive a new mileage rationing record.

But hang onto your tire inspection record, OPA cautions. Motorists will be told later what to do with them.

New "A" books will go into use in the 17 eastern States February 9th, 1945.

Report of another polio case in Warren indicates that while the outbreak in the community has not reached the point where it may be considered epidemic, the situation however, is serious enough to warrant rigid caution on the part of every household. School and health officials are alert to the danger of a general spread of the disease and may be depended upon to take drastic action if such is deemed necessary. In the meantime the best cooperation citizens may give is to keep children from large gatherings and call a physician at the first indication of illness.

We read where Miss Elizabeth Firestone, daughter of the tire and rubber magnate, is starting out to make a name for herself as a popular song writer. We wish her well. May her talent prove to be natural, not synthetic, and may her path on the road to fame be marked by an original tread, without suspicion of recapping of Gershwin or Jerome Kern.

A chemistry professor claims that radio commercials are destroying America's faith in nutrition. We'll go a step further. We also think they're ruining the national digestion and raising the general blood pressure through listeners' frustrated vexation. And the singing variety have certainly set back the American love of music 20 years.

According to news pictures from Quebec Prime Minister Churchill evidently brought along a good supply of big, black cigars.

Some people need a good belt before they'll buckle down.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

(Second Of Two Articles On Feuds In Washington)

WASHINGTON—Examine the record, talk to the persons involved and their subordinates and you will discover there is no great mystery in the causes of all the official family feuding that has been going on since the current national defense program started.

The WPB break involving Director Donald Nelson and Executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson is the most recent, but in fact it isn't greatly different from the earlier split between Wilson and Ferdinand Eberstadt, his co-worker; or between State Secretary Cordell Hull and Under Secretary Sumner Welles; or between Jesse Jones and Vice President Wallace.

HERE are the general causes: 1. Overlapping authority. The Wallace-Jones row over expenditure of funds in Latin America is a beautiful example of this. The Vice President had the ideas and plans, Jones had the money.

2. The mistrust of some administration men of big business executives brought in to handle wartime production. This mistrust is based on differences in ideology but also on the fear that business might take over government reins and destroy New Deal reforms.

On the surface, this may seem a rather nebulous cause, but both friends and foes of the administration impute much trouble to it. It was, in fact, credited by some insiders as one of the chief reasons for the blow-off in the Nelson-Wilson affair.

3. The maneuvering of underlings in the departments to get more power for their bosses and hence for themselves.

Aside from fundamental differences between rugged, aging, politically minded Tennessee Hull and Wells, the stiff, polished product of Groton, Harvard and embassies of the world capitals, political maneuvering in the Welles and Hull camps is what brought the State department rift to its final conclusion.

This was an important factor in the Nelson-Wilson feud, too. Wilson in announcing his resignation stated openly that the sniping of minor officials and the prospect of its continuance was one main reason for his departure.

OBSERVERS I have talked to here aren't particularly alarmed over the effect on the war effort of these quarrels in the official family, in spite of their frequency.

The gigantic expansion of government under stress of wartime production, operation and control has resulted in powers of key officials often being sketchily defined. Business executives who are unused to having their word questioned in running their own industrial empires have come here to find themselves hamstrung by overlapping authority, government red tape, and political dickering. Some wrong men have been appointed to big jobs; some big men appointed to wrong jobs. It will probably take the end of war, reconversion and short ten years of overwork to reduce Washington family feuding to its prewar level.

If you're waiting for a home telephone

... you naturally want to know how soon we can fill your order.

We wish we could tell you but the fact is that it depends on these two things:

1 The extent to which present subscribers may decide to give up service, thus releasing central office equipment instruments, outside wires, etc.

2 The extent to which manufacturing facilities and manpower, new and released equipment, are available after the needs of war are met.

Meantime, we promise you this: Your application will not be forgotten and it will be filled in the proper turn.

Good Pastures Profitable

Good pastures conserve soil and reduce livestock production costs, and when operated in rotation with cultivated crops result in larger crop yields, says the War Food Administration. Pasture establishment and improvement practices become especially important in meeting wartime food and fiber needs. Assistance in carrying out such practices is available to American farmers in most States under the conservation program administered by the Agricultural Adjustment Agency.

Soil is protected in several ways by productive pastures, WFA points out. Excellent insurance against erosion and loss of moisture is provided by the thick sod or cover while it is being grazed, and when turned under it acts to reduce erosion losses while the land is being tilled. The sod also makes the soil more productive when it is broken to grow crops in rotation. Higher carrying capacity of good pasture increases the farmer's income by making supplemental feed from cultivated land less necessary. In addition, much less labor, power, equipment, seed, and fertilizer is required to operate land in grass and legumes than in cultivated crops.

Good pasture practices include reseeded of depleted land and planting of new pasture, contouring, weed control by mowing or clipping, application of lime and phosphate, stock water developments, and a season-long system for preventing overgrazing. When plowing and reseeded are necessary, or when new land is being opened up for seeding to pasture, says WFA, fertilizer and lime should be applied before the seed is sown. In most areas, poor pasture can be renovated by disking, liming, fertilizing, and seeding more productive grasses and legumes.

Legumes return nitrogen to the pastureland, and under average conditions they should form about one-third of the planting. Government studies show. Mixtures of grasses and legumes produce one-third to one-half more pasture feed than grass alone. In addition, it is pointed out, reseeded pasture with legumes and supplementary grasses aids in erosion control by filling in bare spots in the turf, and tends to lengthen the pasture season.

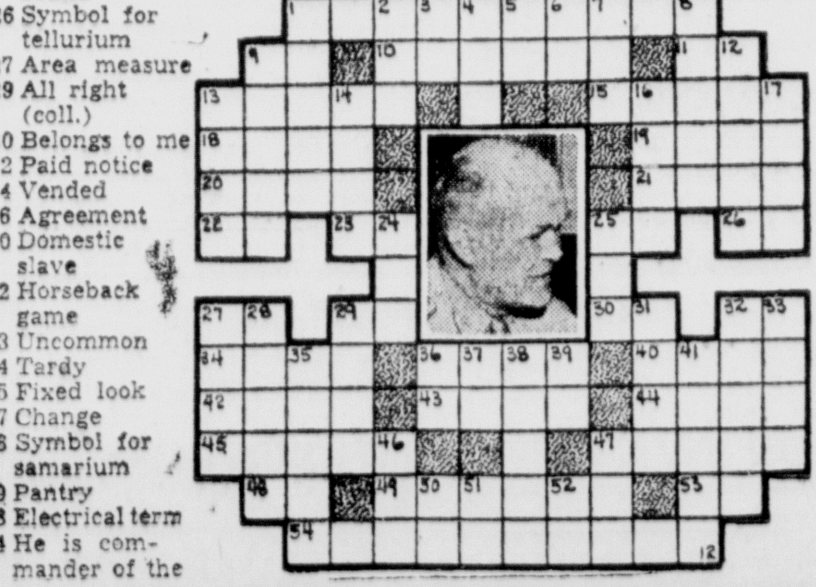

Conditions under which pasture grows vary not only from State to State and county to county, but even from farm to farm and field to field. The kinds and amounts of fertilizer, lime, and seed that should be used, and the farming methods best suited to the land, vary in the same manner, says WFA.

Artificial reseeding of pasture and range land under the Agricultural Conservation Program has been increased nearly fifty-fold since 1936, according to annual reports. In 1942, the last year for which complete figures are available, 9,923,000 pounds of seed were used for reseeding, compared with 195,000 pounds in the earliest year.

der the July, 1944, shipments to the United Kingdom received 62 per cent, Russia 39 per cent and the balance to smaller countries. Everybody reads the Times-Mirror.

Horizontal Oil Well Proves To Be Producer

Oil City, Sept. 12.—The story for which the oil industry has waited with interest for several months may now be written—at least the first chapter.

It is the story of the production of the horizontal wells of the Ranneywell Installation of Venango Development Corporation at Two Mile Run, near Franklin. Operators who have heard it listen with interest, and find it difficult to take their eyes off the 3-inch look-box at the well mouth, where the stream of liquid rushes through.

The sight is indeed gratifying to Leo Ranney, technical advisor on the project and inventor of the drilling method in use, who, after 25 years of oil development along unconventional lines, hopes to convince the industry that the ultimate methods of oil recovery may grow out of his revolutionary horizontal wells.

The production story, as told by Mr. Ranney, briefly is this:

With only 10 acres of the 400 acre tract of Venango Development Corporation subjected to gravity drainage by these Ranney wells for a period of 180 days ending September 2 with only one of the now producing wells shut, with 15 points of vacuum applied to the installation for only the last 20 days, production during the six months period has averaged 28 gallons of oil per acre tapped per day. This is 56 times as much oil per acre per day as was produced by the vertical wells on the lease, under 25 points of vacuum.

Labor Board Approves Raise For West Ridge Bus Drivers

Increases in hourly and mileage rates have been approved by the Regional War Labor Board for bus drivers employed by the West Ridge Transportation Company, Glenside, Pa.

The company operates buses within the towns of Meadville and Warren, Pa., and Dunkirk and Fredonia, New York as well as between Buffalo, N. Y., Erie, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Bradford, Pa., Jamestown, N. Y., and Olean, N. Y.

Intra-city drivers of Meadville, Warren, Dunkirk, and Fredonia will receive a five cent hourly increase, giving them 70 cents an hour during the first year and 75 cents an hour thereafter.

Inter-city drivers will receive new rates of 3 1/2 cents a mile during the first year and 4 cents a mile thereafter. Former rates for these drivers was 3 1/4 cents a mile for the first year and 3 and 1/2 cents after the first year.

Approximately 150 drivers who are members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, independent, are affected.

The Board also approved time and a half pay for overtime work together with one week's vacation after one year of service and two weeks' vacation after five years of service.

Drivers on straight-away runs will receive overtime after ten hours, while hourly-paid operators on turn-around runs will be paid overtime after eight hours within a consecutive 10 hours and for all time in excess of 10 hours until released.

The Board found that all the adjustments, which are effective retroactive to October 19 of last year, conformed to its policy for the mass transportation industry in that area.

Farm News

There is still time to avert a serious threat to livestock and conservation program by harvesting every available pound of grass and legume seeds. N. E. Dodd, chairman of the Warren County Agriculture Conservation Association said today.

"Red Clover can be harvested through September and the period for Alfalfa seed stretches from August to October," Mr. Dodd said.

"There's no use beating around the bush on this question of legume and grass seeds. The cold facts are, unless we beat the seed shortage, we are headed for serious trouble."

Mr. Dodd called attention to a supplemental Congressional appropriation of $12,500,000 for use under the program of the Agriculture Adjustment Agency in meeting the grass and legume seed shortage. "Payments from this fund," he said, "will provide farmers with a cash incentive to insure delivery of the needed seeds."

Triple-A is offering a payment of $3.50 for each acre of alfalfa, red clover, alsike clover, or sweet clover seeds harvested and an additional payment of $0.35 per pound for red clover seed, and $0.25 per pound for alsike clover or alfalfa seed harvested.

"We've had serious seed shortages before," Mr. Dodd remarked, "and they have caused us a great deal of difficulty. In fact, the Congressional appropriation ever made for the benefit of agriculture had to do with seeds. This most recent appropriation may make it possible for as much as an additional two million acres of seeds to be harvested. It's up to us farmers to do the job."

Plans Complete For Field And Stream Club Outing

Plans for the Warren Field and Stream Club Outing to be held Sunday, Sept. 24th at Wilder Field have now been completed and the committee has planned a full day of activity which will appeal to both young and old and to both men and women.

Of particular interest will be a wildlife display of most animals native to our local forests, together with a forestry display. George Norris, Warren County Game Protector is in charge of the wildlife display and has arranged for a very complete line-up—hawks, owls, pheasants, racoons, skunks, rabbits—everything. Jay Peas has charge of the Forestry display—always one of interest and educational value. The club has been fortunate enough to secure the master collection of true-to-life plaques of game fish from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. These plaques are considered to be the finest reproductions of Pennsylvania game fish in existence today. Admission to this fine exhibition is free.

Uncounted the food tent will be the greatest attraction. Here the refreshments committee headed by Frank Reese will have available a typical fox hunt lunch. These hunt lunches proved to be just good enough last winter to induce the boys to crawl out of bed on Sunday mornings all winter long and go on a fox hunt in near zero weather just so they could get the lunch at noon. Hot dogs and hamburgers are broiled over charcoal, buns are steamed, served with relish, coffee, and it's really something. Charges for the lunch will be held to a minimum so those who bring their families won't go broke.

Knowing how the ladies like to play games, the boys haven't overlooked this form of entertainment. A series of games will be had and

Four Leaders in American About to Move Into Stretch

BY JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Possibilities of a two or three-way tie for the American League pennant appeared less fantastic today as the four leaders loafed through an early week rest period before moving into the final stretch drive.

With an average of 17 games to play, Detroit had 18, the first place Yankees were only three lengths in front of fourth-place Boston one game ahead of St. Louis and a half game on top of Detroit.

If the should result, the World Series opening date of Oct. 4 might have to be moved back although a single game playoff in the west could be completed in time to open on schedule in St. Louis if only two teams were involved.

Open gaps in the league schedule left only a New York-Philadelphia night game Wednesday hanging before the weekend business starts on Friday but the race can not be decided before the final intersectional series starting next week.

Detroit had a slight edge on Boston in the business of beating their rivals from the opposite geographical half. The Tigers walked in 44 times in 74 starts for a .595 percentage. Boston clubbed the west 42 of 74 or .568. St. Louis managed a 39 of 75 pace for .520 and New York just broke even in 74 hits. Washington was meat for the Tigers who took them 15 of 18 and Boston had no trouble ruining Chicago by the same 15-3 margin.

Among the rivals, Detroit beat New York 12-7 but bowed to Boston 10-8. St. Louis shaded Boston 10-9 but trailed the Yanks 10-8 in games. The Browns held a 12-9 edge on the Tigers and New York and Boston split in their 22 meetings.

St. Louis faced a comforting steady diet of home cooking for the rest of the campaign as all the Browns remaining games will be played at Sportsman's Park. Boston had finished up home business and was slated for 17 road games before the end. New York had only two more stadium dates in 17 and Cleveland had only a four-game series in Cleveland and before settling down at Briggs Stadium through Oct. 1.

Monday was a complete blank in the American but Cincinnati moved up to within three games and a half of idle Pittsburgh in their scrap for second place in the National by easing out a 6-5 10-inning win over Chicago.

Catcher Ray Mueller drove in four of the first Cincy runs and scored the winning tally in the 10th to give Reliever Clyde Shoun the nod over Hank Wise. A two-night doubleheader between Pittsburgh and St. Louis was rained out.

District Players To Face the High Scores In National Forge On Sunday Warm-up Tilt

Ball players from this entire district, many of whom have been seen here before this season, comprise the District All-Stars who will oppose the National Forge nine at Wilder Field, Irvine, next Sunday afternoon, it has been announced by Manager Nick Creola, of the NFO nine.

Managed by Joey Nagle, of Jamestown, and Vern Group, of Corry, two of this season's best-known diamond strategists, the All-Stars are expected to provide a lineup that will cause plenty of trouble for the Forge.

According to Nagle, the All-Stars will include players from the Jamestown All-Stars, who won the New York State semi-pro championship; Jamestown Vikings, Corry Merchants, Erie Brabenders, and Warren Struthers-

Wells, all semi-pro outfits, as well as the Bradford Bees and the Wellsville Yankees, of the PONY League.

Three members of the Struthers-Wells crew are slated for duty with the District All-Stars. It is reported, they are Chuck McLean, who has been with the Forge for the past two games; Bonavita and Lundquist. McLean and Lundquist are slated for outfield duty, while Bonavita probably will be used at second base.

The two PONY League players listed for action are Fraigle, Bradford Bees shortstop, and Corcoran, moundman from the Wellsville club.

First hat factory in the United States was established at Danbury, Conn., in 1780.

Some high scores were rolled last night at the Penn Bowling Alleys by bowlers warming up for the league opening. Mush Johnson, Doubles Champ in last springs tournament, rolled 199 and 264; Bernard Joy, just recovering from a serious accident, had games of 194 and 221; and Bertha Fraring, warming up with a brand new ball had 203 for a starter.

Two leagues will have meetings on Wednesday, September 13, the City League at 7:00 p. m. and the Ladies Minor League at 8:00 p. m.

There are still some openings in the Men's Minor League for men not bowling in any other league. Information may be secured at the Penn Alleys.

Tuesday night's schedule is: Heat Treat vs. Forge Shop, 1-2; Crocetts vs. Bab's Barbers, 3-4; United Cigar vs. Paramount Furniture, 5-6; Kinnears vs. Blomquist, 7-8.

Incorrectly stated in Monday's paper was the announcement that the City League would not begin until September 20. The date on which the City League will meet is on Wednesday, September 13.

Remember the Apple Days?

Remember those grim days during the Great Depression when men who couldn't find work stood on street corners selling apples?

Many of those apple peddlers had been prosperous... had had good jobs. They'd been making extra money... just as you are today. But the trouble was, they thought things would always be like that.

Are you making that mistake today? Or are you saving your extra money so that no matter what happens after the war you will have some money you can get your hands on?

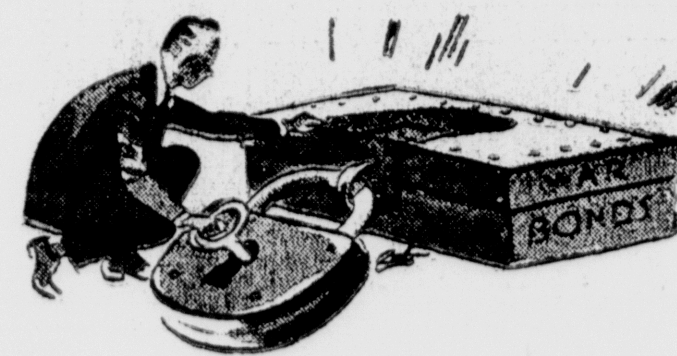

The best way to make sure that you will never be a street-corner peddler is to put your extra money into War Bonds.

War Bonds are the best investment in the world. Every $3 you put into them today will pay you back $4 ten years from now. And... best of all... you can never be broke while you've got a sheaf of War Bonds in your pocket!

So buy War Bonds... and more War Bonds. And hang on to them!

Current Fashions Hark Back To 1900's for Inspiration

One of the most exciting fashions in years will be Fall and Winter, 1944-1945. New York's famous designers have gone back to the beginning of the century, to the years between 1900 and 1910, with their fashions which made the feminine ideal a silhouette paragon for today's statuesque and elegant styles.

The accent is again on curves, with frills and fullness poised on the bosom, on a long, often pointed line from the bust to the waist, on well-rounded hips. Bell-buttoned hemlines and back swish in skirts balance the forward curves above the waist, and forward-sweeping hats.

Other influences include the Renaissance, with such adaptations in New York collections as the doublet top and doublet sleeves... the Napoleonic most noticeable in triple-breasted, close fitting suits... the Oriental in drapery and color... the Edwardian in puffs, bustles and bows in such trims as ostrich. Arabian Nights' touches add glamour to the Fall picture, and a goodly amount of glitter in general.

A softening of the silhouette has been subtly achieved by New York designers, with no negligence of LBS. Peplum and tunic styles abound, and all kinds of hipline accents.

The side-swept look is favored, in surplice bodices and side-slanting skirts, often trimmed with a cascade of the fabric from the waist to the hem. Suit jackets are longer, the majority fitted, and many fitted, and many topped with a short or hip-length cape. Colors highlighted for the season are fuchsia, blue, reds, orange, reds, almost shades of purple to a deep, almost black tone, new, muted greens and emerald green, ruby and other jewel tones. Grey promises to be popular and tete de negre.

Black With Color

Black is by no means neglected, but it is often teamed with color, particularly in dressmaker suits for the cocktail and dinner hour. The jacket of the suit comes off to show a soft pink or a gold or an emerald green blouse, for instance, or the top of a dress in one of these colors. Basic black dresses in crepe are banded around the hips with black satin, and black or evening is embroidered in gold and jewels.

Fabrics used by New York designers prove once more that in-

Evening "Gowns"

The long evening gown is very much in the Fall picture, either in covered-up fashions with deeply slashed necklines or in definitely décolleté styles. Many of the latter are shown with flattering, matching scarfs embroidered like the bodices of the dresses, or they are scarf-draped. One of the loveliest dresses is called "Victory Night," a figure-moulding gown of magenta crepe with star-bursts of sequins. A waist-length veil of magenta tulle strewn with sequins

Chapter 4

JACK BLANE went back to Detroit the day after the "Scarborough woman" as the town dubbed her, took up residency in the hilltop mansion. It shocked Susan to realize Blane's leaving meant more to her than even the Scarboroughs' return. And when the days passed with no word from him it threw into complete eclipse all anxiety about the factory.

Not so with the town. When Julie Scarborough's black sedan flashed down Maple Row to pick up groceries at the market a ripple of comment would run the full length of the village street. Not for years had there been such talk.

"Doctor Merrill says," Janie confided to Susan across a dish of ice cream one hot afternoon, "that he'd like to have a thermometer big enough to show how the fever in this town's rising. Exactly seven minutes after Julie Scarborough came into our office for a bottle of cough medicine the news had spread the length of the main street. He timed it."

Old Jed Caulkins was having coffee at the fountain. When he finished, he came by the booth to pick up his evening paper. "Just left a telegram out to your place," he told Susan. "Warn't nobody come so I slipped it under the door. There was a box of some kind stuck back of the screen too."

"Thank you!" Janie gave a mocking laugh as Caulkins left, her sharp eyes on Susan. "So it's love, I might have known that mass of masculine beauty." "Shut up!" Susan begged. "I haven't even told Aunt Sarah about the date I've had with Jack Blane." She slid out of the booth. They were breathless when they reached Aunt Sarah's cottage. Susan swept up the package which obviously contained flowers. The yellow envelope winked at them from the carpet. With color flooding her cheeks and Susan's lips tipped up and Janie's head it slanted over her shoulder.

IT WAS like coming to a dangerously close to a snare, precipitous cliff and getting a violent reaction half an hour later. Susan felt sharp angry pains in her chest from running through deep sand. It was as dark as the inside of a cave and she didn't know how far she'd come. In dim outline she saw a fallen log by the side of the road and sat down to collect herself.

The events of the last terrible hour came back to her sharp and clear, yet with the tenuous quality of a nightmare. The vision of Julia Scarborough rose before her as she had dramatically introduced her son Erich. Susan could feel yet the deathlike silence that had followed. Then her own driving desire to be out of that room, away from those people, had been a tidal wave of passionate emotion. She had bolted from the room. At the front door Erich had caught her arm and tried to reason with her but she had wrenched away and fled. Fled madly down the dark driveway to the road leading away from town.

Full realization swept over her that Jack Blane, the man whom she had learned to care for, was forever out of her life. That an unbridgeable void lay dark and menacingly between them. It left her cold and shaken. Mechanically she started walking down the road taking no heed of direction. She had gone a half-mile, she guessed, when the powerful lights of an automobile lighted the sky ahead of her. Her first impulse was to run into a clump of trees and hide until she had passed. As suddenly as the idea came it struck her as childish. Things were crazy. They didn't add up. But she had to go back to Midvale and face life as it was. She had Aunt Sarah to look after, her job—Susan stepped to the side of the road to let the car pass. It flashed by and then, with a violent squeal of brakes, it stopped. Susan, hurrying on, heard Dr. Merrill's voice.

"Susan! Where are you going? Come back!"

HE WAS out of his car now and walking rapidly toward her. When he reached her she started to say something and then laid her head on his shoulder and started to cry. He put a comforting arm around her and spoke in a tone that she usually reserved for sick children. "There, there," he said, patting her a little awkwardly. Gradually she gained control of herself.

"I'm an awful fool, Doc," she said brokenly.

"I guess all of us are at times," Dr. Merrill said. "Come on, I'll take you home. Your aunt's almost frantic."

After they were in the car and headed back toward town Susan said, "How did you know about what happened at the meeting?"

"Thorny thought when you ran out of the Scarboroughs that you had gone home. He went over to see if you were all right and found you weren't there. Then your aunt started asking him questions about the meeting and he had to tell her what happened. She went all to pieces. Thorny called me."

Susan sat there watching the dark landscape flash past the window wondering how she was ever going to face Midvale again. "Imagine that Susan Corboy falling for a Scarborough!" she could hear him say. Aunt Sarah had been right. If she had only listened!

"I wouldn't be too bitter against the boy," Dr. Merrill said suddenly.

"How else could I be?" Susan cried. "He deliberately led me on to like him under an assumed name!"

"He knew if he told you his right name in the beginning you

... so after discussing this proposal of yours from every angle we have come to the only possible decision." He looked at Julie. "We cannot permit you to reopen your father's factory within our town domain—nor or ever."

The council behind him gave a Greek chorus of assenting rumbles. The Town had spoken.

WAS it reflected firelight or had Julie Scarborough, so slim, so elegant beside the fire, paled suddenly. Susan felt a fleeting compassion. It was a harsh ultimatum.

Julie moved slowly to rest one jeweled arm along the top of a massive chair. She lifted her head, smiling over the council. "I beg to differ with Mr. Lockhart on one word," she said. Her voice was quiet. Small silences framed its cool phrases. "The word 'proposal.' I do not remember proposing to reopen the factory, gentlemen. I announced it. Is there a law by which you can stop me?"

Susan's gasp was lost in the general tumult of shocked noises. So this was the woman she had pitied! Even Thorny had underestimated the strength of her talons! She watched her fascinated as Julie Scarborough faced the storm of threats and protests, waited for their bitter fury to spend itself. Then she began to talk.

They were allowing, she said, an old prejudice to blind them to opportunity—the opportunity for their children as well as themselves. Some day jobs might not be so plentiful. Some day they would be glad Midvale was large enough for themselves and their children.

She smiled suddenly at a whistle in the hall, went to the door and opened it.

A sudden mist blurred Susan's eyes. Jack Blane was standing there! He shouldn't have come up here! She got to her feet. But she made no move toward him, for Julie Scarborough was linking her arm through his. Her eyes gleamed amber, her voice was low and rich.

"Yes, gentlemen, is Erich in Favre—my son."

wouldn't even give yourself a chance to like him."

Susan flared. "If he hadn't been named of being a Scarborough he would have given his right name in the beginning!"

Dr. Merrill lighted a cigarette. Then said, "Maybe."

"What do you mean 'maybe'?"

DR. MERRILL spoke slowly, deliberately and with conviction. "Listen, honey," he said. "Now don't get mad at me. I'm a friend of yours and the Scarboroughs are practically strangers to me but I want you to keep an open mind on this business. Of course, I was raised in the city and there things are different but it seems to me that holding these small town prejudices for a generation is kind of foolish. At best life is far too short. Why go around being cross-grained and cantankerous because of something that may or may not have happened twenty years ago?"

"I don't intend to do that," Susan said. "In fact, I will simply forget him." Even as she was saying the words she knew that she never could.

It was after eleven o'clock when they drove up Elm Street. It was deserted but there were lights still burning in several houses. This was unusual and Susan knew the reason.

Dr. Merrill took Susan up to the door. Before he turned to leave he cautioned, "Remember what I told you. Keep your chin up." Her Aunt was propped up in bed with pillows. Her face was distorted and ashen. "Well, you have made us the laughing stock of Midvale."

Susan bit her lip. "I'm sorry, Aunt Sarah," she said softly.

"Twenty years ago your father made a fool of himself and lost his life to pay for his mistake. Now tonight you—"

Aunt Sarah was too shaken to go on. She sank back exhausted into her pillows.

is worn on the head or around the shoulders.

Because most of us have so long gone without a new evening dress—and because even those who felt the need for one in the past two years found little choice and little glamour—the superbly detailed gowns now to be seen are as sparkling and refreshing to parched fashion tastes as an oasis in the desert!

Fortunately for varying figure types, the silhouette choice ranges from sheath-like slimmest with slashed hems in the Chinese manner—to youthful bouffant utilizing yards and yards of gossamer fabrics.

Fabrics Unlimited

In the fabric choice, selections include every desirable texture from tulle to velvets; from crepes to metals of molten beauty. And in the name of "good taste," the more formal the fabric, the simpler the fashion into which it is developed—such as the many figure-moulded tunics and shirt-tailored forms made in lane. Whereas the most practical crepes are given the dressing-up of sequins, fringe and gold beading to reflect bright lights of admiration in an escort's eyes!

Colors unlimited—is the buy-word in formal, so that if you look best in black, there's plenty of that—and if you want to celebrate in purple or fuchsia; in gold or green; or in pristine white—all are to be readily found.

Local Character of W. M. P. Priority Referral Program

(Note: This is the second in a series of articles by Paul F. Murphy, Area Director to explain the priority Referral Plan as it applies to workers.)

The plan of the War Manpower Commission to help the right worker fill the right job at the right time through a priority system of job referrals, though nationwide in scope and effect, is local in character. It is based on local considerations—local war production schedules and services, local manpower supply, local working arrangements, and other conditions applicable to this locality.

Policies have been established to give war industries and essential services a prior claim on the available supply of able-bodied workers and, at the same time, to prevent infringement on the rights of the workers. These standards are, with the exception of a few that have been developed nationally, of local origin. They are based on recommendations by the local Area Management - Labor Committee, equally represented by labor and management. Labor member is: Roy E. Moore. Management members are: George L. Craft, Klahr M. Andrews.

From time to time, if and when it is believed necessary or desirable, these policies will be revised or augmented, depending on local circumstances and recommendations of the Labor Management Committee.

To properly evaluate job needs in this labor shortage area with the available supply of skilled workers on the basis of relative problems nationally. Leadership and guidance of the program is concentrated in local officials with an understanding of local problems and an understanding of the contribution that must be made locally to the national war effort. It must have local support and local cooperation. Every worker, every employer, here, in this area, must give unselfish, unswerving effort and devotion to the common cause.

(The next article of this series will deal with the subject of employment ceilings.)
